

To whom it may concern at the FCC:

I am a current subscriber of XM Satellite Radio and find its services indispensable. No longer am I stuck in traffic listening to the drivel of local DJs or the incessant reoccurring playlist. Though the traffic reports are not available yet in my region, I do find the wide variety musical styles represented and the current weather report to be a vital part of my day; whether during my commute or at my residence.

For these reasons, I feel adamant about the NAB's recent petition 04-160. To deny me the ability to have this information and entertainment at my disposal would be very upsetting. I strongly urge you to reject their petition and listen to the voices of the many happy XM satellite radio users who have had their radio listening habits re-invigorated by this novel delivery approach. We do not need the opinions of the National Association of Broadcasters to drive legislation in the US.

I respectfully appreciate your time and attentiveness to this matter ,
